Data Breach Alert:
Compliance Shouldn't Come at the Cost of Security

What's the point of compliance if your data isn't safe?

The recent breach at TeleMessage (a Smarsh subsidiary) exposed archived, unencrypted messages from federal agencies and major financial institutions—a chilling wake-up call for anyone relying on mobile compliance platforms.

It's proof that compliance alone isn't enough.

Your communications must be secure and compliant, with zero compromises.

You've Been Breached. Let's Make Sure It's the Last Time.

It Only Takes One Weak Link

If you've already felt the fallout of a data breach, you know the damage runs deep:
